

Cellebrite OSINT Solutions

Everything leaves a digital trace. Leverage all layers of the web with one click.

Cellebrite OSINT solutions effectively collect and analyze public online information to generate insightful reports that can effectively increase the amount of digital evidence available for investigations.

By entering a single identifier, publicly available data can be collected to generate a detailed report that includes information from multiple social media networks, online publications, and other online sources.

Once all case-relevant data has been identified, a shareable intelligence report can be generated within minutes and shared with stakeholders.

(Open-source intelligence (OSINT) is the ability to collect, analyze and produce actionable intelligence from public online information).

Key Capabilities

- Fast and easy insights with one click
- Up-to-date information in one clear view
- Fits seamlessly into any investigative process and stage of an investigation
- Simple navigation with an intuitive workflow
